23 Potential Queens Make Bow - Is Your Favorite Named?

FIRST CANDIDATES FOR QUEEN

Bertalone, Miss Carrie	Harrison, Miss Leslie
Bledsoe, Miss Beulah Fay	Harrell, Mrs. Frank

The entry list still is open. The real winner may be developed later in the race. However, today there are 23 young, winsome and attractive women of Port Arthur, who are candidates for the highest honor that possibly can befall a girl resident of this city for at least another 25 years.

PORT ARTHUR is selecting its ruler for a day. The selection is being made by printed ballot appearing in every edition of The News from May 31, the starting date of the Queen Voting Contest, until its close at midnight, June 23.

The names of aspirants to the Centennial Throne are announced today in alphabetical order.

BALLOTING may be done for any one of the named contestants, or new contestants may be originated at any point in the game, up until the close at midnight, on June 23.

Clip the coupon ballot on page 2, write in the name of your favorite, your own name and address and send or bring it in to the Contest Editor, The News, Port Arthur, Texas.

Popularity is the key to success in the Queen Voting Contest. Canvassing is freely permissible. There is no objection to lining up your friends to cast their votes for your nominee. Every coupon represents a vote a day, and on Committees are busily planning the various phases of the celebration—but the real effort is being expended in making the queen event one long to be remembered as eclipsing anything ever attempted in this section of the country.

THERE WILL BE no less than 50,000 persons in Port Arthur on the day of the commemoration of its 25th birthday as an incorporated city. And, a Port Arthur girl shall rule them.

by the culminating event of the 24-hour merry-making—the crowning of the queen, followed by a royal ball in her honor.

From the six princesses, to be furnished by nearby cities of Texas and Louisiana, down to the lowliest "newbie" that will trod the city's streets, all "subjects" will do homage at the shrine of the Port Arthur girl chosen in this contest.

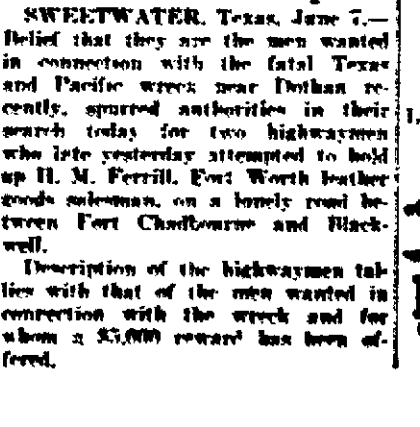

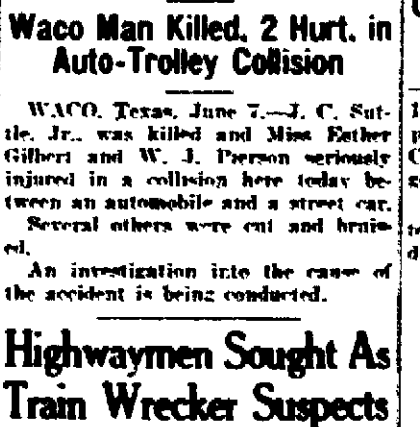

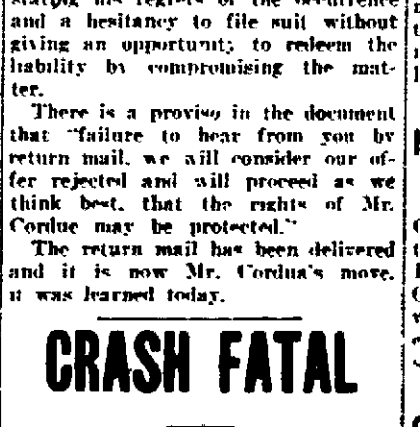

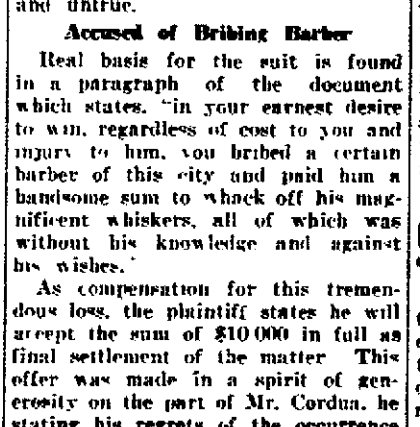

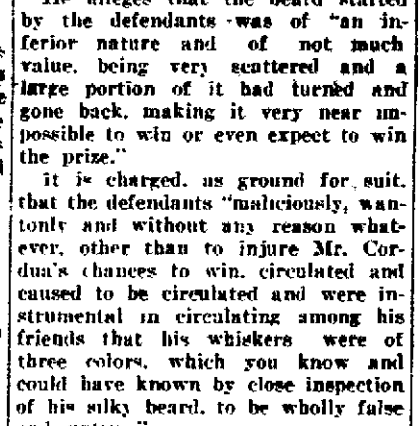

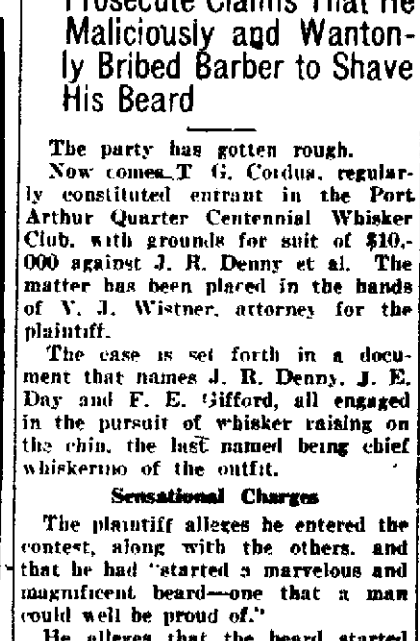

Just who this girl shall be is yours to say. There are just sixteen more days left for the contest. Then the votes will be counted. And, Port Arthur's most popular young beauty will take her place at the head of the ruling house on July Fourth.

AIR CIRCUS ENDS WHY DID WALTON

SHRINE SESSION DO IT, IS ASKED

Many to Remain in Washington Until Sunday

WASHINGTON, June 7.—With a final day of pageantry including an aerial circus put on by some of the most brilliant fliers in the army and navy and a water pageant on the Potomac river, the Shrine convention officially will end tonight. But actually the Shrine hosts will continue in possession of Washington until Sunday.

Formal elevation to their new offices of the members of the imperial divan will take place today, and Clifford Ireland, Peoria, Ill., will sworn in as imperial order guard.

The "Dance of the Statues" will be the concluding event tonight on the official program. The music of 100 hands will be broadcast to every part of the country, as through here dance on historic Pennsylvania avenue.

LAKE GIVES UP BODY OF GIRL

Corpse Found on Beach, Her Hand Clutching Rosary

MILWAUKEE, June 7.—The body of a girl about 20 was washed up on the beach at the North Point pumping station today, where it was found by Fred England.

As the condition of the body indicated to Deputy Coroner Henry Grundman that it was less than 12 hours, he expressed the belief that death was the result either of suicide or accidental drowning. No marks of violence were found.

Was Rosary in Hand
When Mr. England came upon the corpse, clutched in the hand was a rosary. The only other definite clue to the girl's identity other than her clothing was a handkerchief with the initial "H" in one corner.

The body was clothed in a black silk dress, silk stockings and black oxfords. A short distance up the beach were found a light spring coat and a tan straw hat with flowers gathered about the crown. Metal arch supports were found in the shoes.

Believed to Be Polish
The features indicated that the girl might be of Polish descent. She was brunette, weighed about 125 pounds, and was 5 feet tall.

A check of the descriptions of missing girls listed at police headquarters failed to reveal any clue. There is no pier or other projection within half a mile of the point where body and coat and hat were found, so that if the girl ended her own life she must have walked out into the lake to a point beyond her depth.

WOULD ITEMIZE APPROPRIATIONS

Texas Farm Bloc Favor Step in Education Bill

AUSTIN, June 7.—At a meeting of the farm bloc in the house today, 17 members went on record as favoring an itemized bill for the educational appropriation measure. Five members voted against this policy. It was the contention of the minority that to itemize the bill would entail too much quibbling on the floor of the house when the bill was under consideration.

It was pointed out that the best policy would be to appropriate enough to care for the needs of the schools and have them to make an itemized report to each succeeding legislature just how the money was spent.

Charges were made in the meeting that the chairman of the appropriations committee had introduced a slide die resolution in order to hold it as a whip over the house to force the passage of the bill as reported out of the committee. If not passed in this manner the threat could be made that those opposing this procedure would force another session thus entailing an added expense to the taxpayers of the state.

OFFICER OFFERS BOOZE AS ALIBI

Claims Irresponsibility in Slaying at Detroit

DETROIT, Mich., June 7.—Police men working as enforcement officers are forced to sample so many kinds of liquor that they become intoxicated and pass the line of responsibility for their actions.

This was the defense offered today in the trial of Terrence Monaghan, former policeman, charged with the murder of Edmund Heffron.

Monaghan was working on the prohibition squad last New Year's and visited an alleged "blind pig" operated by Heffron, according to the defense.

"It was time for the defendant to buy a drink to assure himself that it was really intoxicating liquor," C. Chawke, defense attorney, said.

"As the result of Monaghan's devotion to duty and his consumption of the evidence he passed the line of responsibility," according to Chawke.

Aged Couple Thinks 300 at Convention Came to Honor Them

NEW YORK, June 7.—While Chaim Weiss, 105 years old, and Mrs. Etta Topper, 104, inmates of a Jewish home for the aged, were holding a joint celebration of their birthdays Sunday, 300 delegates to the thirteenth annual convention of the Sons and Daughters of Israel arrived to open their meeting. The aged celebrators, natives respectively of Rumania and Austria, guessed that the delegates had come to help them celebrate forthwith personally thanking each one of the 300. No one had the heart to tell the old revelers of their mistake.

O. HENRY

"That means to be a fine animal you have there," said a man on Travis street yesterday to a Houston sport who was about to get into his buggy.

"Fine! There's nothing finer in the United States. That horse has got Hambletonian, Jay Eye See and Nancy Hanks blood in him. You won't find a better animal in Texas. He's made it time and again in 2:10. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for him. I think more of that horse than anything I've got. Thinking of buying a horse?"

"No," said the man. "I just thought I'd ask. I'm the tax assessor, and I'm kinder looking around at things."

The sport got out of his buggy and went up quite close to the other man.

"See here," he said. "That's a fancy price I put on that horse. He ain't worth nothing like that. You law some time ago and broke her jaw. Naturally I think a heap of him. It's sentimental, sure, sentimental. You can put that horse's actual value at one fifty-one fifty and not a cent more. Now don't forget."

Ice, ear muffers and umbrellas.
We'll be prepared for any change.
The weather can not quell us.

YOU AND I

COLD

Rodger Dolan, fishing in the Canadian north, telegraphs that the season is so cold and backward up there, the settlers are thinking of planting Christmas trees and ice in their gardens.

Dolan, a scientific bent of mind, also reports the none of the mosquitoes he has killed so far had hypodermics for stinging. He thinks possibly this is because they broke them off in him last year.

WEALTH

A lawsuit reveals that the late William Penn Snyder left an estate of 40 million dollars.

It starts one thinking about our system when one man can accumulate and leave this much, yet not one American in 1000 ever heard of him. Did you? He was an iron baron—owned furnaces in the Shenango valley, ore freighters on the Great Lakes and big iron mines in the Lake Superior country, not counting his sidelines.

RICHEST

Hugo Stinnes is worth only a fifth as much as Henry Ford, world's richest man, figuring Ford's fortune at $500 millions. Ford really is richer, for his annual business income (before the tax man gets him) is equivalent to 5 per cent on $280 million dollars.

The elder Rockefeller would still be richer than Henry if he hadn't given away and endowed by hundreds of millions until only 300 to 500 million dollars stand between him and the poorhouse. What charities will appeal to Ford when he begins distributing his wealth on a big scale back to its source?

JOHN D.

Rockefeller and Ford have many things in common, in addition to their industries being interlocked. John furnishes the gasoline. Ford uses it up.

Both have surrounded themselves with high-salaried experts, men of the $200,000 to $100,000 a year class. Both are rivals at efficiency. Less than a tenth of one per cent of the gross receipts of Standard of New Jersey for instance, goes for salaries and all other management charges.

John D. also has for a generation paid his employees as well as Ford. Why is he unpopular. Ford popular?

FATE

It's queer how our lives mysteriously are linked to others, paths crisscrossing time and again. Spiritually, we travel through eternity in "revels" or groups.

Near Rochester, N. Y., a farmer was a drunken man from drinking. An hour later, however, he had the farmer's wife, his and fractured the skull of the drunk as he was unexpectedly staggered out onto the road from the darkness. That is fate's crisscrossing, with a vengeance. The victim is thinking it over in the hospital.

It will soon be time to decide where you are going on your race. In the hidden levels.

Do you think twice before they tell you to speak twice to the lady friend.

PAYING THE BILL

Any group of men composing a party, as a rule, are good natured and entertaining, but when the time comes to pay the bill there is often a quarrel. The state of Texas is a pretty big party. It costs better than a million a month. A state legislature first acts as a spender. Generally there is little quarrel over the spending item. The legislature is now reconvened for the purpose of getting the money to pay the bills. The result will be days and days of high blood pressure and blood sweat. Various groups of legislators represent various pocket books. Roughly they are the pocket books of a group such as merchants, wholesalers, farmers, oil men, capitalists, insurance executives, manufacturers, and lumber men. No group really wants to pay the bill if those who constitute the group can get the other group or groups to pay it.

Governor Neff, Monday, in his taxation message, said in measured language, "We've all got to dig up—and some of us, twice."

Roughly, he advocates income and inheritance taxes which double up on national taxation already in effect. Also gross production tax on petroleum and intangible taxes. As for the first item, income and inheritance, such taxation now in effect in New York state has resulted in general exodus from Manhattan Island to New Jersey, and New Jersey is ready, through an income tax, to gather in the fugitives. New York is about to retaliate by insisting that anyone working in New York pay a state income tax while New Jersey insists that anyone living in New Jersey pay an income tax. And, of course, Uncle Sam is there on March 1 himself. As a consequence the New York City business man is facing triple taxation on his ability to earn. Of course the oil people desire to keep any direct oil taxation on the general consumer; the lumber people are interested in keeping a very low acreage tax on standing timber. Almost anyone with a thousand dollars in the bank will be worried about any intangible tax.

It may be necessary to plaster a lot of taxes on all phases of Texas business life, but if that sort of thing is done this session of the legislature, the men who do it should remember such taxes are at the most only a salve and will do little more than temporarily reduce the swelling of the deficit. The real trouble with Texas taxation is that there is no head to it. Texas has more than two hundred and forty-eight counties, officials of which determine the valuation after the legislature determines the rate. Naturally these officials, having the last shot, might as well have the first and last. At least this holds true as far as standard taxation is concerned—that is, taxation on real property.

If just taxes through just valuation were put into effect in each county in Texas, there would be absolutely no need of the multiplicity of special taxes that we are about to be afflicted with. WHAT IS NEEDED IS A STATE TAX BOARD OF REVIEW WITH TEETH IN IT. Then there would not be the escape from taxation which is keeping millions of dollars out of the state treasury through political control of counties by rich men or those who represent large interests. The lumber interest and east Texas and the undivided ranches of the great west and northwest and south would then be taxed upon real value instead of value placed by the owner. The net economic result to the state would be the use of such lands by those who desire to use it rather than the idleness of such lands through the greed of speculators sitting quietly by in comfortable homes waiting for a million or more people to reach Texas, land hungry, and whose coming tends to swell the fortunes of those who neither plow the soil, sow the seed, or garner the harvest.

In the days of the Bourbons of France, the king was the state, swollen with the pride of power, but he was not the collector of taxes. Powerful nobles controlled his provinces. They levied the taxes, they maintained private standing armies more powerful than the king's. They kept the titles for their own use in their own principalities and while the king was the state, his treasury was lean, bankruptcy was his lot, and pauperism and famine made his lowly subjects beg for bread and revolt against his throne.

A state tax board of review with teeth in it is the need of the hour and it should be a demand of the hour. It was an issue uppermost at the regular session and a measure creating a state equalization board was defeated in the house by the narrow margin of five votes. Political control of counties by powerful individuals or interests should be broken and the way to break this control is for the lawmakers to enact a state board of review that will bring about just taxes through just valuations of the taxable wealth which is the property of the common wealth.

Forty distinguished Americans have issued a joint declaration holding that there is no antagonism between science and religion. Eighty members of the Texas legislature have adopted a resolution that there is antagonism between science and religion. Regardless of this the 60 lawmakers never referred in document to the constitutional requirement that taxation shall be equal and uniform. There are men who know the hot end of the poker when they grasp the poker. It is impossible to fool a politician.

BONAR LAW

Premier Bonar Law has no intention of resigning until he is forced to resign. It is a matter of money. British property owners have been taxed until their blood is white instead of red. They demand relief. Bonar Law can not grant them the relief they demand. Britons spent billions while the World War was on. They ran the printing presses and issued paper notes. They borrowed from abroad. Now it is digging time. There is always a day of reckoning. British labor demands that the wealth of England shall be taxed and not the banks and the pockets of the masses. If Bonar Law agreed to this plan he would be thrown out of office in less time than it would take to tell the story. If he refuses to accept the plan then the war between the classes and the masses, those who have and those who haven't, will continue until labor has a strangle hold. It is the hungry nany against the well-fed few over there.

WORLD ON WHEELS

"The world is on wheels and will never get off," declared Henry Ford in a message from Detroit to the Wall Street Journal, asserting that the Ford Motor company would maintain its present record output not only through the summer but through the year.

Sure the world is on wheels. William Gibbs McAdoo is on wheels. On his return from Europe Oscar W. Underwood was on wheels. Governor Al Smith is on wheels and the dregs of America are going to do their best to keep him on wheels. President Harding is on wheels.

All the big political leaders are on wheels and wheels are humming in their ears. This government is on wheels, both federal and state. Governor Neff is responsible for the saying that Texas must be on wheels as it costs the agents of government, or rather the tax payers who pay the bills, several hundred thousand dollars a year to travel about a bit.

LETTER FROM BETTY STOKLEY TO HER FRIEND, ALICE HAMILTON

Gracious goodness, Alice! Your last letter made me think you were a real know-nothing young lady. Of course I know that both of us have grown up, but I hope your family is more aware of the fact than mine is—and me a real live authoress, even if that isn't a grammatical sentence.

I made a grammatical slip the other day and Vera picked me up right before a room full of people, saying "Betty, you'll have to speak more grammatically than that if you want to be a successful writer."

Quick as thought I answered, "Oh, I don't know, I don't have to speak grammatically. I just have to write grammatically."

Sir George Fortesque told me he thought that was the smartest thing he had heard in many moons. He didn't say "many moons" because he is English, you know.

That night Vera told me she thought I should be green and not heard in the drawing room between you and me, Alice. I think Vera would like to be Lady Fortesque, but she has got as much chance of being it as you have. I think he comes here because I amuse him.

Isn't it strange that "sisters" are such cats? From what you write me about your sister Leslie, she seems to think she is still "it" in your family, and I know that I'll be nothing at all in mine in time. I'm worried.

By the way, if your Karl Whitney comes over here this summer are you going to tell him that I know about the pearls? Isn't it grand. Alice, to have a perfectly wonderful secret like that? It makes your life just one series of thrills.

Every morning when I wake up I wonder if the secret will be found out today. For, of course, you know that some day Leslie's husband is going to find out that those pearls are real, and then there is going to be a regular dynamite explosion in your family. I don't blame you for wanting to be on this side of the ocean when it starts.

From what you wrote me in your last letter, I think if you really want to marry Karl Whitney we can get him engaged to you while he is over here. I know my sister can't interfere, because she is so engrossed in trying to hook Lord George that she can't think of anything else.

Speaking of Lord George, what do you think he asked me the other day? He came up on the terrace where I was sitting in the hammock, seated himself in a chair and looked at me very defiantly without saying a word for a long time. Then he said:

"Oh, I say, little one, are you what they call a flapper in America? You're nothing like our flappers, don't you know."

"No," I answered emphatically. "I am not a flapper, but Sister Vera is. She is the kind of a girl they call flappers over there."

He looked at me a moment and then began to laugh. "You are spoofing me," he said, "but at that you are a bright one, throwing your weight around this way." (That is English slang.)

Wouldn't it be nice, Alice, if when you Karl Whitney comes over here I could borrow Lord George for a little while from Vera? I'm not a real live authoress for nothing, you know.

So glad you are coming and really hope that no one will find out about the pearls until after you have left. An intrigue makes life so interesting.

When your feet begin to itch
For the long and dusty road,
And you're sick of quarters which
Are your present-day abode;
Then it's time to pack your kit
And it's time to go, and blow,
And there's no getting it wrong,
For you're simply gotta go.

Just it so?
You must go.
Start to tramp it to and fro,
Take your blanket-roll and dust,
Go you will and go you must;
When the fever's in your veins
You must go!

Oh, I've settled down a lot
And I've sworn I wouldn't stir,
But would you a little stir her:
Find a girl and marry her:
Then my feet began to itch
And my wife at home was slow,
And my nerves began to twitch,
So I simply had to go.
Ain't it so?
You must go.
Quit your home and job and blow,
Take your blanket-roll and pack,
Hit the road's endless track;
When the fever's in your veins
You must go!

Andy Gump Butts
Into Election, Nearly Spoils 40,000 Ballots

OAKLAND, Calif., June 7.—It took official action by the city council here Thursday to remove Andy Gump from the municipal primary ballot, after the city attorney had ruled that his presence imperiled the validity of 40,000 votes cast for mayor.

When the official count of votes cast at the recent municipal election was made, it was discovered that some 40,000 of the votes had been cast in Andy's name for mayor. Counting was halted until the council investigated, when it was declared that Gump was a mythical person. His ballot was canceled.

According to the city attorney, Andy almost cost the city the price of another election.

STEPSON ASKS
BRIDE'S ARREST

Action Sought When She Moves With Furniture

STERLING, Ill., June 7.—Mrs. Willis Marshall Ward, 38 years old, formerly of Chicago, bride of a few months of Judge Henry C. Ward, 72, is fighting a warrant issued by her stepson, Assistant United States District Attorney P. H. Ward, who charges she violated the Illinois law forbidding remarriage of a divorced person within a period of a year.

Reinforced by her son, Charles H. Marshall, a Chicago student, the dashing divorcee has barricaded herself in her home and sent word to officials that she "is too ill to be arrested."

She formerly was well known in Washington and the rapid courtship and marriage of her and Judge Ward furnished Sterling society with a choice morsel of gossip. It is said she immediately began refurbishing the Ward home on a sumptuous scale, beyond the resources of the aged judge. Last Saturday he asked an injunction of the marriage. He returned from court to find his wife packing up everything and he dashed back to court and secured a writ of replevin to prevent the removal of the household goods. Then he took up residence with his son, who Friday obtained the warrant for her arrest.

BEWITCHING COMEDY
An appeal to the lover of the artistic and picturesque is Mack Sennett's "Suzanna," which is now playing at the Peoples theatre with Mabel Normand in the starring role. Mabel Normand has brought many smiles and rare comedy art to her parts in such pictures as "Mickey" and "Molly O" and like productions but in "Suzanna" she outshines her former pictures.

"LOVE IN THE DARK"
The feature attraction booked to be shown at the Peoples theatre Saturday and Sunday is "Love in the Dark," starring Viola Dana. The cast supporting Miss Dana includes Cullen Landis, Arline Pretty, Edward Connelly, John Harron, Bruce Guerin, Margaret Mann and Charles West.

Riches Hits Hotel Man Who Wins 3 Pots in Big British Turf Classic

PLYMOUTH, Eng., June 7.—A Plymouth hotel keeper was the envy of all Britain today.

He is the hero of one of the most unusual turns of fortune in British racing history.

Sometime before the running of the historic Derby at Epsom Downs he subscribed to three sweepstakes on the race. He drew Papyrus, winner of the classic in each pool.

As all sweepstakes in the Derby are heavily played, indications are that the hotel keeper will collect enough money to place him within striking distance of the millionaire class.

Whale Trio Breaks Up
Atlantic Fishing Party

NEW YORK, June 7.—Three whales, one of them more than 100 feet long, forced the Gloucester mackerel fleet to quit fishing, Capt. Tate Brillo said when the fleet arrived at Cape May.

The whales were sighted 60 miles off shore. One came up to blow 50 feet from Captain Brillo's boat. The whale ploughed through a mackerel net, causing a loss of $200 to net and fish.

PEERAGE FARCE,
SAYS PONSONBY

British M. P. Would Abolish Hereditary Titles

LONDON, June 7.—"Hereditary titles of the English peerage minister to vanity, encourage corruption, lead to flunkery and snobbishness and in the eye of the majority of intelligent persons are becoming ridiculous," Arthur Ponsonby, M. P., told the house of commons on introducing his bill to abolish the present system of titled aristocracy.

Arthur Ponsonby was a page to Queen Victoria. Arthur Ponsonby's father has had once to Buckingham Palace through the reigns of three sovereigns. Arthur's brother, Sir Frederick, was the friend, personal traveling companion and confidante of King Edward VII. Sir Frederick is now one of King George's secretaries.

When brother Arthur rose up to shatter the peerage, he dealt the Ponsonby family roofree a severe shaking.

"I believe," said Ponsonby, in supporting his bill, before the commons, "that peers of ancient lineage would be ready to drop their titles in view of the colleagues that have been presented to them within the last few years."

This was a dig at the practice of David Lloyd-George, who set a record for the creation of new peers. That holders of ancient titles resort to the infusion of upstart blood into the house of lords is borne out by a story told by the holder of one of the oldest titles in England concerning an incident at the opening of the present session of parliament.

"The holder of the honary title walked into the cloak room of the house of lords and placed his umbrella in the stand as had been his custom for years past.

An attendant stepped up and suggested that the lord should remove the umbrella and the noble lord returned, "Quite unnecessary," that gentleman expostulated.

Full of new peers
"You can't be sure of that, my lord," answered the attendant, "the house is full of new peers."

Ponsonby declares there is more sense than nonsense in the story. Under his plan no person could succeed to a title which had been relinquished by its former holder. He also provides that such relinquishment can be simply effected. He goes further and provides that no person born after the passage of his bill shall succeed to an hereditary title.

"Everybody agrees," Ponsonby said, "that the peerage has become utterly grotesque and a farce. Dignity, merit and distinction are fast disappearing from the peerage. Party payments, beer and whisky are taking their place."

place." Ponsonby told the commons that when he and his labor colleagues assumed power they would not confer peerages for party services or merit for anything else. With this chance that the peer factory may sometime be closed, it is possible that little thing American women may have to dig even deeper into their bank roll in order to close a deal.

SON MAY DON KITCHIN'S
SHOES IN LOWER HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7.—The congressional most notable event, the death of Claude Kitchin, whose majority leader, will remain in the Kitchin family if the democratic executive committee approves.

Two candidates for the seat, J. N. Rouse of Kingston and J. G. John Kerr of Warrenton, agreed to stand aside and let Mills Kitchin succeed his father in congress if the committee would approve.

NORMAN, Okla., June 7.—Consideration of two relatives of former President Woodrow Wilson as prospective leaders of Oklahoma University was under way here today.

Several out of state educators have been mentioned as possibilities as the successor of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, resigned, and president-elect of Missouri University.

Professor Stockton Axson of Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, brother-in-law of the former president, and Francis H. Sayre, son-in-law of Wilson, have been mentioned as possibilities.

Minnesota High Court
Kills Election Restrainer

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 7.—The Minnesota state supreme court today ordered the special primary and election to fill the seat of the late United States Senator Knute Nelson to go on.

An absolute writ of prohibition preventing the district court of Ramsey county from taking any further action in injunction proceedings to restrain the election was issued by the higher court.

The supreme court held that the district court is without jurisdiction and that the election is purely an executive matter.

POLICE HANCHETT BECOMES BRIDE OF NE COCHRAN AT PRETTY TWILIGHT WEDDING

HE old saying that Dan Cupid, the little god of love, is partial to June as a wedding month, will certainly hold good this June for indications point to a large number of weddings during the coming weeks. Weddings follow weddings this week to say nothing of announcement parties both here and in other cities, announcing the approaching marriages of several Port Arthurians.

A June wedding of unusual interest took place last evening at twilight at the Congregational church, when Miss Alice Hanchett, daughter of L. C. Hanchett, became the bride of Ne Cochran.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS MUST PASS TEST

Physical Exam Necessary to Qualify for Camp.

Mrs. E. I. Welch, secretary of the Campfire Girls' association, announced this morning that all Camp Fire girls planning to attend the summer camp must undergo a doctor's examination before Wednesday, June 13. Free examinations will be made by Dr. B. H. Davidson, Dr. C. F. Orin, and Dr. C. W. Fulbright, all of whom have offices in the Terminal building. However, Mrs. Welch stated the girls must be examined by the family physician if they so desire.

The summer camp will be held during the week of June 17 to 25, and the girls are requested to have everything in readiness on the day set for leaving the camp.

The guardians are especially anxious for the girls to send in their applications for the summer camp before Saturday, June 9, in order that they will know how many girls to prepare for.

Mrs. Welch said today that any girl or any parent desiring information concerning the summer camp should call her at telephone 1370.

Not Demonstrating. Attention of the Camp Fire girls is called to the fact that Capt. Joseph S. Law, assistant director of life-saving for the Southwestern Division of Red Cross, will give a special demonstration in life saving at Franklin pool on Monday afternoon at 2 O'clock. All girls are urged to attend this demonstration, and others are also invited.

State Troopers may be summoned to prevent further rioting of street car strikers who last night bombarded seven trolley cars with bricks in the heart of the business district.

President Weather of the Schenectady railway company attempting to break the strike was determined today to demand additional police protection for company property despite the fact that the mayor and sheriff are opposed to summoning state constabulary.

Last night's disturbance was the first since the men walked out May 17.

Cars were forced to speed through a gauntlet of men throwing bricks and stones. Although strikebreaking operations were not repeatedly, none is reported seriously injured.

Here is a Delicate Question Confronting Modern Solomon

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 7.—A married man buys a $750 diamond ring for a manicurist sweetheart. His ardent coo. He plans a fake "hold-up" in order to recover the ring.

To whom does the ring belong?—the wife or the sweetheart?—This was the question facing County Attorney J. W. Wright today following one of the attorneys "hi-jack" stunts recorded here.

Wright ruled the ring should go to the wife and Miss Billie Sorrels, perfect manicurist, is desolate.

Meanwhile L. W. Carr, alleged "heavy" sugar kid, and L. N. Langford are held here facing uncertain charges.

According to the story related to police by Langford, said to be an accomplice in the holdup to recover Carr's ring from Miss Sorrels without her getting wise to the coup, Carr agreed to pay him $100. But the police took a hand, and Carr and Langford are in jail. Mrs. Carr has the ring and Miss Sorrels is in the air.

Miss Sorrels is known throughout the barber world as the "Defect Manicurist." She annexed the title by winning first prize in a bathing girl beauty contest at Dallas in 1921.

The sale was conducted by a police jury. Five bids, all above par and accrued interest, had been submitted.

ESTERN CLUBS
LAN TORNADO
OR NEW YORK

er Nimes Attempt To Check Leaders

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, June 7.—Something is going to be done
out the New York monopolization in world's series in traint of trade.
A tornado conjured by mid-sterners is again forming as Yankees lead their near-opponents by 124 points
the Giants have a lead of points in the pennant race.
These runaway races — following two successive world series
when the New York clubs—are not nating pocketbooks of the other mags, attendance figures plainly
s. Nor are they increasing in in baseball throughout the try.
The insurgent owners have tried cuing New York at its own game
ouring money into a baseball mae, but that hasn't helped any, isky ground up thousands of nbacks in a meat chopper he fig-
I would turn out a money-making club, but he got only—hush.
Billie Kann would have been t $100,000 to anyone else, but he t cashed a cent for the White who still are languishing in the r with prospects that they will win there. There is even talk now Comiskey is sick of the job and villing to sell his franchise.
Meanwhile the Yankees and Giants
inue to run away with the pent and the money. Both appear-re in a class by themselves and e decided to stage a third sucessive private world series in New k unless that "something" is soon.
I took the International League owners several years to break
the Baltimore team which runs with things in that circuit and business in other towns. The ement against New York has been er way for some time; but the ble is becoming a roar and the threatens to be an eruption.

Jack Dempsey Begins Training For Big Ring Bout July 4th With Tommy Gibbons

DEMPSEY HAS HARRY DIAKE, ENGLISH HEAVYWEIGHT, DOUBLED UP WITH RIGHTS AND LEFTS TO THE STOMACH, DURING A WORKOUT AT HIS TRAINING CAMP NEAR GREAT FALLS, MONTANA.

JACK IS HAVING HIS FACE MOPPED BETWEEN ROUNDS. THE CROWD SEEMS TO BE GETTING A LOT OF KICK OUT OF IT—EVEN IF IT IS JUST A SPARRING MATCH.

THE CHAMPION IS AIMING A PRETTY JAB AT JACK BURKE'S STOMACH. BURKE IS ANOTHER ONE OF THE HEAVIES IN DEMPSEY'S STABLE.

FORDS SUPPLANT
SHELBY PINTOS

But Town Lives On As Relic
Of West

By BOB DORMAN
SHELBY, Mont., June 7.—The old west, the west whose passing has been mourned in poetry and prose, is not dead.
It is only a little changed—at least in Shelby.
Flivvers have mostly driven the patent cow pony from in front of the litching racks, but all the rest of it is there.
Familiar scenes, faded on the movie lot, and enshrined in celluloid,
greet one on every side.
You step from the 20th century elegance of your Pullman with its white-coated, soft-spoken servant, into a world that is only known to most Americans by its pictured version.
The wooden station with the attendant fillers, white batted, with high boots and riding breeches, greets your eye first.
From there you step into the dust
of Main street.
Modern brick buildings, the last word in architecture, rub shoulders with wooden shacks, thrown together
inside of 24 hours.
A tent, with a false wooden front,
gets your attention next.
Here comes a cowboy, dressed like the heroes of the screen, his spurs jingling an accompaniment to his tuneless whistle. Following him is an Indian dressed in blue jeans, his black hair hanging down his back in two long braids.
Then two girls, one, the cowgirl of the movies; the other, a version of Broadway. But alas, her dainty shoes are covered with the all-permeating dust that covers all in Shelby.
On every side buildings are rising from the ground like magic. Wooden huts, wooden bungalows, their unpainted sides glistening in the sun,
dot the landscape in all directions.
The smell of fresh cut pine tingles
the nostrils.
And in amongst them, tents of all sizes and colors add variety to the view.
Teams hauling lumber, teams draging oil machinery, autos from which all paint has long since departed, strive for places in the narrow dirt roads which pass for streets in Shel-
by.
The Red Onion Restaurant attracts your gaze from the King Tut Dance Palace. The Star-North Bar has near beer and much nearer dance hall.
And on every side the silent hills look down on the gaudy town nestling in their hollows, look down on the gaunt skeletons of the derricks whose probing fingers are reaching deep into the sands of the earth in search of the black fluid which will spell poverty or riches to Shelby.
The black fluid whose exploitation is behind the holding of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight in this little town, relic of a past age.

FINDS RED SOX
HARD TO BEAT

Joe Bush, Star Hurler, Finds
Opposition

Once upon a time Joe Bush was the star pitcher of the Boston Red Sox. That was after Joe had been sold to that team by Philadelphia,
with which he had occupied a similar role.
A star in Boston seldom stays very long in the City of Culture. He is sold to New York. It was so in the case of Joe Bush.
Last season, in his first year as a Yankee, Bush had a big season, losing only seven games, yet strangely enough four of the seven defeats were inflicted by his former teammates,
the tail-end Bostonians.
It looks as if the Jinx is to continue this year. In his first start against Boston, Bush won after a tough battle. In his second start he was beaten, 5 to 3, despite the fact that he allowed only eight hits and struck out eight batters.
It also was the irony of fate that George Murray, traded to Boston for Pennock, pitched the victory over Bush.

KINKS O'
THE LINKS

If your opponent drives his ball into long grass and while you are assisting him in hunting for the ball
by brushing the grass aside, is there any penalty if you touch or move your opponent's ball while so doing?
In looking for a ball that has been lost in long grass, it is customary to push aside only so much of the grass that will enable the player to find the ball, yet in no way improve the lie. If in looking for your opponent's ball you touch or move it,
you are not subject to the usual penalty of the loss of the hole. When you move the ball of your opponent under such circumstances, he must replace it as near as possible in its original position.
Player drives his ball into a hazard. On reaching said hazard he finds that the ball lies in some casual water that has accumulated in the rough. How should he play his next shot?
If player's ball, after going into the hazard, finds a resting place in casual water, the player may drop the ball behind the casual water, taking a penalty of one stroke for so doing. In dropping the ball the player should keep the water between him and the hole.

OMITS MAYS
FROM REGULARS

Huggins Fails to Carry Him
In List

NEW YORK, June 7.—Carl Mays,
star of the New York Yankee pitching staff in 1921, leader of the American League twirlers that year, is no longer a regular.
Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees has definitely announced that his big four for the present will consist of Shawkey, Bush, Hoyt and Jones, with Pennock as next choice should any of the first named four falter.
The once famous subway artist has been relegated to the ranks of the substitutes. No doubt his main duty this year will be to act as relief pitcher. Mays with his unusual style of delivery should be a very valuable man in such a role for a few innings.
The decline of Mays is due to the loss of his fast ball. This was his big stock in trade. It dipped much after the manner of a spithball.
With the passing of his fast ball Mays lost his big threat and most of his effectiveness.

Connie Mack Hands
Boost to Southpaw

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—In Fred Heimech Connie Mack seems to think he has a young southpaw destined to be as valuable to his club as Eddie Plank was in the old days.
For several years Mack has carried Heimech because he has had faith in him. Heimech turned in a number of ordinary games that would have caused any manager other than Mack to lose confidence. Now it is beginning to look as if Mack is to be rewarded
for his patience.
"Heimech is developing a much better fast ball as he takes on additional weight. Experience is rounding off many of the rough spots. He is a fine fielder and a good batter. Heimech has just about reached the stage where he should win many a ball game for me."
That is the way Mack sizes up the youngster.
Heimech has always had a good curve and excellent control. His fast ball, which for a time seemed a bit shy, appears to have the "zip" this year that will make him a hard pitcher to beat.

BUSY BEE CAUSE OF
MISHAP; 3 ARE HURT

NEW YORK, June 7.—When a bee explored the head of Michael H.
Jacobs for sweets, Jacobs forgot he was driving an automobile. He let go the steering wheel to take a swat at Mr. Bee and the car crashed into one of the pillars supporting the Long Island railway tracks. Jacobs and three women were rushed to hospitals with cuts and bruises, but the bee escaped.

BOSTON, June 7.—John Sealon, 68, fell on the ice here on the hottest day of the season, fracturing an arm and a leg. It might be added that the ice was in an ice house.

BASEBALL QUIZ

Questions:
ONE—If a fielder touches a runner with the ball as he slides into the bag, then juggles the ball, and in the meantime the runner reaches the base, is the runner out if the ball isn't dropped, or does the juggling of the ball make it necessary to again touch the runner?
TWO—If a ball first hits in foul territory after leaving the bat, and then bounds into fair ground and settles there, is it fair or foul ball?
THREE—Runner hits for three bases. After reaching third and while standing on the bag, the coacher walks out and puts him on the back. Should this be ruled interference and the runner be declared out?
FOUR—If a base runner starts to steal as the pitcher delivers the ball, and pitch being wild, making it an easy matter for the runner to reach the next base, is it credited as a stolen base?
FIVE—If the first baseman receives a throw from the shortstop in ample time to retire the batsman, and fails to do so because he misses the bag in attempting to touch it, is he credited with an error?

Do You Know?

"Who are the best of the featherweight contenders?" R. T. C.
Johnny Kilbane and Benny Pava are considered the most formidable of the American contenders. The winner of the Kilbane-Craig fight has agreed to meet Dundee after that contest and Dundee has agreed to meet Valgar if he wins the second match of the series.
"What brought about the improvement in the Philadelphia Athletics?"
H. M. N.
Connie Mack has been building carefully for five years. The development of a strong pitching staff, the improvement in Chick Galloway, the acquisition of "Spark" Matthews,
a great young outfielder made a considerable out of the team.
"What is the matter with the Detroit club?" H. J. J.
The Tigers were disappointed in the pitching staff but it doesn't mean that the team is in a bad way. The hurlers may get going before mid-season.

CATS DEFEATED

SHREVEPORT, June 7.—Harry O'Neil, right hander obtained from the Philadelphia Athletics by Shreveport
shattered the Fort Worth Panther's winning streak when he let them down with four hits, the locals winning 7 to 2. John Buried for the Cats and allowed six hits. Errors helped both clubs. Sargent's homer over the left field wall turned out to be the winning score.

Baby Falls Two
Stories But Aights
In Stand Awning

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—Mrs.
Mamie O'Donnell was doing the washing. When the kitchen became overheated she threw open the door and placed a chair there to keep the young ones in.
Marcie, 2 years old, climbed under the chair and up two flights to the roof.
On a roof across the street two boys were busy with their pigeons.
They saw Marcie's danger. She was standing on the very edge of the roof.
The boys yelled to her to stand back, but she gave them no heed. The baby landed on the awning over a vegetable stand, bounced once, struck again on the edge of the awning and tumbled off into the capable arms of Frank La Barbara. It was found the child had only wrenched her right wrist.
RANDOLPH, Mass., June 7.— Lightning struck a barn here, sending 100 gallons of home made hooch.

Only a Fish But
Is Some Mountsman

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., June 7.—
Fish Tom is only a freshman.
But he has made baseball history in collegiate baseball circles around these parts.
And he did it by pitching a no-hit game.
Middlebury College was playing St.
Lawrence University, lining after inning. Frank retired the visitors in one, two and three order.
Three assists also were credited to him. The party ended with the score standing 5-0 in Middlebury's favor.
Towne is the last yearling who will have a chance to distinguish himself in the local college diamond. A rule sparing freshmen from varsity competition goes into effect next fall.
Frank is a modest lad. Before making his debut at Middlebury, he had only a local reputation as a pitcher for his home town nine back in Fair Haven, Vt.

HIT NEHF

CHICAGO, June 7.—Chicago hit Nehf, star left hander, smashing out four doubles, all of which figured in a 6 to 1 victory over New York, and evened up the series. A thick fog off Lake Michigan, the first on record
at Cubs park during playing time, hung over the field and made it so dark at times that it was impossible to see beyond the infield. Several times it was necessary for the umpires to confer as to whether balls
batted to the outfield had been caught.
Score by innings:
New York ... 000 000 010—1 3 2
Chicago ... 000 202 200—6 12 2

Aldridge and O'Farrell.

BUFFS HELPLESS

GALVESTON, Texas, June 7.— Connally held the Buffs helpless after the second inning and Galveston took the opener 6 to 3. The Sand Crabs bounced hits in the early frames
and Jack Knight for enough to win.
The Buffs scored one in the seventh without a hit, errors by Distel and Brown figuring.
Score by innings:

Mother Writes Words to Daughter's Music and Whole Town of Bellingham Honors Them

Edna L. Larkin and her mother. Below, Edna in a field of tulips.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., June 7.—When Bellingham celebrated its annual tulip festival recently, little 9-year-old Edna L. Larkin was the proud heroine of the occasion.

For it was her own tulip love song that thousands sang during the three days of the festival, and the gentle words of her mother that soothed their ears.

Edna is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Larkin of this city. From early childhood she developed a love for music, and when she showed talent at improvising tunes, her parents encouraged her. She has grown so proficient with the bow, that now, at the age of nine, she plays first violin in the D'Annunzio orchestra and in the junior orchestra of the Bellingham Normal School.

First Success

"Tulip Love"—the rollicking waltz sung at the festival—is Edna's first big success, although she had been submitting bits of her genius to her parents ever since she felt music in her system. The tune came to her while she was toying at the piano—another of her accomplishments—and her mother was away.

When Mrs. Larkin returned, Edna showed her the song. Mrs. Larkin was so impressed by it that she sat down and wrote verses for it.

But little Edna didn't like her mother's first attempt. So Mrs. Larkin had to resume her efforts until she got what her daughter finally agreed bespoke the thoughts she expressed in her music. It was the romance and courtship of the spring flowers.

The completed song, to little Edna's music, is this:

Tulip Love

Come, let us go a-Maying, o'er the hills where tulips grow.

There dainty flower maidens dance while the gentle breezes blow.

Daffodils and jonquils, flower lovers hold—

They come to you with honeyed words and offering crowns of gold.

Refrain

Come, dear tulip, dance with me, Love shall never grow cold.

Oh, let us press your crimson lips To my loving heart of gold.

Come to the tulip's wedding on the verdant village green.

There the golden daffodil is wedded to his queen.

Bumblebee the parson, frogs their music tell.

While the busy honeybee serves supper on the hill.

NO ROMANCE TO WHALE HUNTING

Depth Charges Used by North Pacific Fleet

HOQUIAM, Wash., June 7.—Hunting whales with depth charges, which was revolutionizing the industry of capturing these sea giants, is the result of an invention by a Seattle man, Thomas Hill, fireworks and torpedo manufacturer.

"Why not depth charges for whales?" asked Mr. Hill. "Everyone knows how successful the allies were in warfare against underwater boats. It is simply an adaptation of the same idea."

Off the shore of Northwest Washington, whale hunters are using two methods to catch the leviathans, one the most primitive, by the Makah Indians, loading from canoes, the other, simple, dropping depth-charge bombs into the water where a huge whale is known to have dwelt.

The bomb fits into the mouth of the harpoon gun. When the harpoon is fired it carries the bomb along with it. Automatically a time fuse is started. With the harpoon fastened in the flesh of the whale and the depth bomb attached, the fuse gradually burns, the powder ignites, an explosion occurs, and the whale is killed and comes to the surface.

These underwater bombs are 14 inches long and cylindrical with a diameter of about two inches. The force of the submarine explosion is sufficient to kill the whale by compression.

The invention will take the romance out of the hunt for whales, but there is nothing like playing safe, for thousands of men who have died at sea might have been saved by means of the whale bombs.

Many whaling vessels are now out and the regular whaling season is starting. These vessels all carry the depth charges.

Whalers the world over have heard of the new killer and are watching for news of the North Pacific's experience with the explosive.

AMERICA'S ONLY DIAMOND MINE

6,000 Stones Yielded by the Arkansas Field

CHICAGO, June 7.—Arkansas' diamond mine, the only one ever discovered in North America, has yielded nearly 6,000 diamonds since the "pipes" were first located in 1906, according to a report of the U. S. Geological Survey.

Most of the diamonds have been small, but a number of large stones have been found. The largest weighed 21 1/4 carats and the second 17.90 carats. Dr. George F. Kunz, diamond expert, says the Arkansas diamonds are as fine as any found anywhere.

"These are absolutely perfect and are equal to the finest stones ever taken from the Jagersfontein mine in South Africa, or that were ever found in India."

A few of the Arkansas stones have sold for as high as $500 a carat, the report says. The output of the South African mines is about one carat to two tons of ore and of the Arkansas mine about one carat to eight tons of ore.

Discovery of the Arkansas mine created excitement, but its output so far has cut little figure in the world's supply. Ninety-five per cent of all the world's diamonds come from South Africa. The price of the very best African diamonds in 1930 was $120 per carat, and this year is $750 per carat.

Why, Mr. Gallagher, We'll Stay by Ziegfeld

NEW YORK, June 7.—An amicable settlement has been effected between Gallagher and Shean, the comedy team, whose song has become a national pastime, and Florenz Ziegfeld.

Mr. Ziegfeld has withdrawn all pending litigation, and it is announced the comedians will remain with the Folies throughout the summer season and go on tour with it in the fall.

The settlement came after a six-hour conference, with Mr. Gallagher appearing absolutely and Mr. Shean positively, that the new contract offered by the Folies is in better terms than a summer season in vaudeville. Mr. Ziegfeld fought to restrain by court order the withdrawal of the comedians from his present show Friday, when they maintained, their present contract ended.

Action? Atlanta Leader, Busy as She Is, Will Get It for You & Your Want

ATLANTA, Ga., June 7.—Whenver you want anything done, go to a busy person and you'll be sure of quick action.

As Atlanta, therefore, you go to Mrs. E. M. Boykin for any civic or other local reform—and you may depend on her to find time to get things done.

Mrs. Boykin is president of the Atlanta Woman's Club and is largely responsible for the palatial clubhouse which is a challenge to women's clubs throughout the country. But that's only one of her minor accomplishments.

"We should have better motion pictures for our children," wailed the mothers of Atlanta. "Some of the things they see are entirely harmful for the impressionable mind of the school child."

Children's Mothers "Then we'll get better pictures and support them," replied Mrs. Boykin. So she organized a Better Films Committee composed of parents, teachers and welfare workers and arranged for them to review all films sent to Atlanta, to select pictures best suited for the children's matinees which she arranged to have held each Saturday morning in the local houses.

Then the children themselves were permitted to help in the rest of the program and sometimes to act in the sketches. Educational films which would correlate with school work were obtained and the music for the program explained the week before in school.

The result is a children's weekly matinee that is one of Atlanta's greatest prizes, to which any mother may send her child each week and know nothing objectionable will be shown.

But the work did not stop here.

For Growups Too "We found that growups needed better films as well as the children," Mrs. Boykin explained. "So each week we publish our recommendations of all the pictures that are to be shown the following week. We have no affiliations with any company, and unbiased in our judgment and people trust us."

"A picture we recommend is almost sure to do good business and one we find objectionable rarely does. That shows people want good pictures and to make money the exhibitor must provide them."

"Our opinions are observed not only in Atlanta, but throughout the south. Often I receive telegrams from exhibitors a thousand miles away, asking the opinion of our committee on certain films. We have promoted the best of feeling between the theatre owners and the public they serve and we believe we are mutually helpful."

"It seems that the American man, however, is growing more beautiful of will excel the ancient types of beauty in manhood of the Greeks. He works too hard and eats too fast and burns himself out before he reaches middle age."

"The face of the American man indicates that he is built for utility rather than beauty. But that may change in future generations."

Dr. Bretton in an interview with the United Press declared that the "melting pot" of European types—the American mentality and outlook on life, the practical domination by women in America and prohibition—are combining to produce a distinct composite national type of super-beauty, more lovely than any the world has yet seen.

The process of definite formation of type will take from fifty to one hundred years more, assuming immigration is restricted, but the main lines of the type are already visible.

"In this development prohibition will have a large part," said Bretton. "No woman can be beautiful without a clear complexion and woman cannot have clear faces and drink alcohol as women in Europe do."

The American Type In Bretton's opinion, the chief characteristics of the American type are:

A pretty nose inclined to turn up at the tip—a pug nose. Bretton declared the nose is one of the most important features of a beautiful face.

Fine complexion, due to good general health and outdoor life. Dark hair and attractive eyes.

Good figure with narrow boyish hips, which is one of the individual characteristics of the American type. Fascination of personality due to exuberance and self reliance and good education.

"The American beauty will be first in history to have a 'pug nose.' Hitherto the accepted standards of beauty have demanded a long straight nose. But the American girls have proved that woman can be really beautiful with a nose that is not long and straight."

"One reason the future American beauty will be the most lovely in the world is because the principles of bodily hygiene are most extensively and better taught in American and more widely observed—for instance the case of the teeth which is yet not widely understood or practiced in Europe except among the upper classes."

"Then too there are more advantages for practicing hygiene in America."

YOUTHFUL BRIDE RUNS ROMANCE

HOUSTON, Tex., June 7.—Judge Byron Boyd has announced from the bench that he would decide lawsuits of the average kind, but when it came to making up a woman's mind for her, he was no King Solomon.

Six weeks ago a young lady, driver and a pretty 10-year-old school girl ran away to Galveston and were married. Six days later the young bridegroom was arrested on charges of false swearing preferred by the father of the bride. The bride was taken to St. Louis and placed in a convent.

Later, the husband got his release from jail and went to the courthouse for a second time. This time he went to the clerk's office and swore a solemn oath against his father-in-law, asking that he be compelled to bring the bride into court and tell why she should not be with her husband.

This morning father, bride and bridegroom faced each other, and a large group of relatives from each family in Judge Boyd's courtroom.

Then it was that the court announced that he would let the young woman decide for herself, and that she and her husband could go off and talk it over.

They talked for twenty minutes. The bride came in and said "I want to go home to mother."

Another romance ended.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Nancy got her scissors and snipped and cut and fitted and sewed.

There is a story about how Nancy dressed up the Ragdies. One day in Raggy Land Nancy had an idea. "I'm going to make you some new clothes," she said. "Who to?" asked Mister Tatters, the little Raggy man. "Why all of the Ragdies," she answered. "You just shan't go around any longer looking like ragamuffins." Mister Tatters looked down at his old overalls, all worn to rags, and slowly shook his head. "I don't think we need them," he said. "We can work better in old duds." "Oh, you'll soon get used to them," said Nancy. "You might want to give another party." "That's so," said Mister Tatters reluctantly. "Perhaps it would be better if we dressed up a little. The Fairy Queen sent us some cloth one time, but we never had any use for it. You'll find it in my best bedroom bureau drawer." Nancy got her scissors and snipped and cut and fitted and sewed and pretty soon she had every single Raggy man fixed up in a brand new suit. She made some with long-tail coats and tight-fitting like the Brownies wore. And she made some with belted tunics like the gnomes wore. And she made some with short jekins like the elves wore. But when they were finished nobody looked happy. "We shall have to change our names now because we aren't Ragdies any more," said Raggy Tree sorrowfully. "We all look like duds." "And we'll have to stop helping folks because we're too dressed up," said Bob Tail solemnly. "Well, if that's the way you feel about it, you'd better take your old clothes back," decided Nancy. "Here they are, every one of them." And you should have seen the Ragdies grab, my dears. It really was shocking. (To Be Continued) (Copyright 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

Barred Living Models From Display Window

MOSCOW, June 7.—Titled mannikins displaying in Moscow shop-windows the newly arrived Paris fashions—the first since the revolution—have so mesmerized the proletarian man-in-the-street that the police have had to ban animate models to the more intimate show rooms inside. The mannikins, beautifully gowned and beautiful—many of them are countesses and even princesses—nearly caused a riot. Crowds of men, thousands strong, gathered at windows to watch them. Street traffic was blocked. And angry wives, jealous and also tired of watching carefully cooked meals cool off uneaten, themselves complained to the authorities. Finally the police requested the shopkeepers to keep the mannikins out of masculine sight.

JUST LIKE HOME

BUENOS AIRES, June 7.—"Hit 'em on the head" is the slogan among Buenos Aires thugs, as regards taxi drivers. The profession of chauffeur is becoming increasingly dangerous in this city. Two or three people, sometimes well dressed, hire a taxi, ride around town and then order the cab driven to some out-of-the-way street. While the chauffeur is paying attention to his job he feels a blow and finds himself shortly afterwards, with his pockets empty, telling a tale of woe to a not very sympathetic police captain. Even women are taking part in these taxi driver raids.

REKJAN, June 7.—The Danish government has decided to build a radio station on the island of Greenland. The contract was given to the Dansk-Radio company for 400,000 crowns, despite a lower bid of 340,000 by a German company.
